 It seems like they bought pretty much the amount of CEL they were supposed to (bought 54M CEL tokens for paying 48M CEL as interest). The problem is that they used BTC and ETH for all purchases, including for interest of CEL, while the interest on BTC & ETH is 30 percent of the entire liability.

 So we should have plenty of excess of other coins. Let's finish the count and see where we are. I think we still have some other issues.

We don't have enough stablecoins as all are deployed except for 20M. We are building a plan to close the gap in 10 days and then I'll try to make it shorter. I'll update you
